

20th October 2017

Hi David,

I'm trying to tidy up loose ends before I get too old and decrepit.

Now, you may already have done this, but I'm attaching a list of every reference to Frank Hyde the painter that is contained in the "British Newspaper Archives" - an online resource for index, full reports by subscription.

As you will see, it only supplies a snippet of the information and that snippet is often garbled. However, I have listed everything I could find in date order.

Some things stand out for me.

First, Frank does not seem to have received a great deal of money from his paintings. He appears to have made his living by exhibiting, providing pictures for engraving of prints etc, talks, various articles etc and presumably a percentage from cards and prints that he owned the copyright of. My guess is that this area was the main source of his income.

He would have received rents from the tenants of the Hyde End and other Estates he inherited in 1903.

However, the Money from Uncle Charles Hyde's Will was tied up in legacies and restricted funds administered by Trustees. Complicated by the absconion of two of the trustees - The Parker- Searle Brothers, Solicitors to the upper classes, who defrauded many clients and absconded to Australia with their ill gotten gains. No extradition orders in those days!

John Francis does not appear to have been Charles Hyde's favourite for although he left the estates to JFH, he did not leave a lump sum, instead John Francis received £500 a year paid in two half yearly instalments. He had to apply to the Trustees to obtain money and could only do so if it was a legitimate estate or family expense allowed for in the will. The same strictures would have applied to Frank.

I don't have a copy of Frank's will, but it would be very interesting to read. He left, Effects £2959 10s 11d in 1937 to his daughter Florence Bradley. Strangely, so far I have been unable to find any death notices for him, or obituaries.

As he lived to a great age, 87, very unusual for so tall a man, I'm guessing that towards the end there might have been some mental impairment and his daughter would be running his affairs. By the way you'll notice Florence was married in the Brompton Oratory - the premier Roman Catholic church in London.

As you will see, "Cupid's Revenge" is claimed to have been viewed by upwards of half a million people. Which is astonishing.

I have included the coverage of Frank's divorce to illustrate that it was reported throughout the nation! As one old preacher used to say, "the English do so like to get their sin second hand from the newspapers". I have the detailed accounts, but it makes for very depressing reading!

Anyway, I hope this is of some interest to you and that this email finds you and yours in good health and spirits.

Warmest regards from your cousin

Ken.
